

To whom it may concern

Re Colin Smith

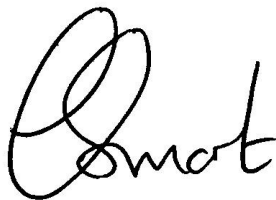

Surface Transforms plc is a relatively small business that is moving very swiftly from many years as a development company into full production. Surface Transforms specialises in carbon-ceramic discs for brake assemblies in the super-car automotive sector.

Surface Transforms were looking for a partner to assist us in the implementation of ISO9001:2000 as a starting point for giving structure to what was a system in its very infancy.

Colin assisted us with the early stages of a very robust quality system prior to my arrival and continued to assist me with his excellent knowledge of automotive compliant quality procedures. Colin also carried out many training sessions and assisted us with our first Management Review meeting. His considerable knowledge and experience has proved invaluable, and we gained certification to ISO9001:2000 at our first attempt with zero non-conformances.

Colin also has been very helpful post ISO9001 and is always very willing to help with a telephone or email query.

We would have no hesitation in recommending Colin to any prospective clients.

C Smart
QA / H&S Manager
Surface Transforms plc